

14 Mar 2018 | News

QUOTED. March 15, 2018. Pamela Spence.

by

Check out what Ernst & Young's Pamela Spence had to say about the business threat to health-care firms from the tech world and how companies must respond.

"To seize the upside of disruption in this transformative age, life-sciences companies must look beyond novel drugs and devices, and invest, participate in or build platforms of care." –Pamela Spence, global life-sciences industry leader, Ernst & Young

Find out more: New Report Spotlights Intensifying Rivalry Between Tech And Health-Care Companies

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight