

05 Dec 2018 | Interviews

QUOTED. Dec. 5, 2018. John Kupice.

by

H-Source, which runs an online marketplace for buying and selling medical supplies between hospitals and other registered health-care organizations, expects 2019 to be another year of rapid expansion with the addition of OEM offerings to its marketplace and new features that help its customers keep track of their device inventory. See what H-Source co-founder and CEO John Kupice said about it here.

"It's a B2B marketplace very much like Amazon ... [Users] can trade in these assets and we manage all the logistics and accounting on the front and back end." –John Kupice, co-founder and CEO, H-Source

- Find out more: Reselling Devices: H-Source Adds OEM Devices, Supply-Chain Integration Options to Growing Platform

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight