Feb. 1 marked one full month since Health Canada's deadline for manufacturers to be certified to the Medical Device Single Audit Program (MDSAP) came and went, and the message from that regulator is clear: All systems normal. See what Health Canada's Geoffroy Legault-Thivierge said about it here.

"The MDSAP transition deadline has passed without incident. As of the transition deadline, approximately 90% of manufacturers have initiated or completed the transition to MDSAP."
–Geoffroy Legault-Thivierge, spokesperson, Health Canada
