

12 Feb 2019 | News

QUOTED. Feb. 12, 2019. Sapna Kripalini.

by

Improved reimbursement for telemedicine and telehealth is spurring greater adoption among physicians and patients and is proving to be a good way to cut down on health-care costs. See what Vanderbilt University Medical Center's Sapna Kripalini said about it here.

"If we invested more in home telehealth, we could allow patients to receive care in their own homes, and we would be giving physicians greater insights into how home conditions can affect patient care." –Sapna Kripalini, assistant professor of clinical medicine, Vanderbilt University Medical Center

- Find out more: More Physicians, Patients Using Telehealth to Save Costs, Improve Care
Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight