At this year's AACC conference, Medtech Insight caught up with Siemens Healthineers' president of laboratory diagnostics Deepak Nath. See what Healthineers' Nath said about plans for their flagship Atellica solution here.

"Atellica is designed to improve workflow and increase efficiency in the laboratory. [There is] consolidation taking place in the market where there's more and more testing taking place in higher-volume laboratories, and Atellica is built to capitalize on this trend. In that, in terms of bringing forward the type of efficiencies and bringing forward the type of improvements in work flow, Atellica is unparalleled." – Deepak Nath, president laboratory diagnostics, Siemens Healthineers
