

29 Nov 2019 | News

QUOTED. 29 November 2019. Steve Dyson.

by

The health-care sector remains ripe for investments, according to an expert panel of private equity investors. See what Steve Dyson, partner at UK private equity firm Apax Partners, said about it during a panel discussion at the recent Jefferies Healthcare Conference in London.

"If you take medtech, some of the large medtech stocks are driving some of the strongest, high single digits, growth rates. That hasn't been the case for many years (2010 to 2015). What was 2-3% growth is now becoming a sustainable 5-6% growth." – Steve Dyson, partner, Apax Partners

- Find out more: Jefferies 2019: Flight to Health Care Will Continue, Say Private Equity Experts

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight