Quanta Dialysis is linking up with B. Braun Avitum UK to support patients with Quanta's personal hemodialysis device in the home. See what Quanta CEO John Milad said about it here.

"We were really impressed by B. Braun, as they have a long history of excellence in dialysis, a good catalogue of powerful ancillaries that fit well with the needs of our patients and a distinct service for getting stuff into patients' homes [to ensure] they're well looked after. We've integrated that with our offering, so we can provide a single experience to our customers and patients." – John Milad, CEO, Quanta Dialysis
