

10 Mar 2020 | News

QUOTED. 10 March 2020. Emma Spaulding.

by

US regulators provided more specific recommendations on thermal damage testing for electrosurgical devices in an updated final guidance. See what US FDA's spokeswoman Emma Spaulding said about it here.

"FDA has received many questions from sponsors regarding appropriate testing conditions for assessing thermal damage for electrosurgical devices for general surgery." – Emma Spaulding, spokeswoman, US FDA

- Find out more: US FDA Updates Electrosurgical Devices Guidance To Reflect Thermal Damage Testing Recommendations

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight