

13 Mar 2020 | News

QUOTED. 13 March 2020. Stephen Hahn.

by

During a 11 March budget hearing, US FDA Commissioner Stephen Hahn renewed his request for legislation to require medtech manufacturers to report to FDA any anticipated or existing shortage of devices. See what the FDA's commissioner said about it here.

"We still believe our request for legislative authority around medical devices is necessary, so we have a more accurate picture of the supply chain." – Stephen Hahn, commissioner, US FDA

- Find out more: FDA Chief Asks Congress To Require Device Makers To Report Shortages

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight