The medtech industry wants the European Commission to allow virtual audits so companies can gain initial audit certificates against the Medical Device Regulation and In Vitro Diagnostic Regulation in timely fashion during the COVID-19 pandemic. Oliver Bisazza, director of regulations and industrial policy for MedTech Europe, commented on the issue.

“If we don’t allow virtual audits, we are not signaling that companies are rewarded for doing the right thing” – Oliver Bisazza, director of regulations and industrial policy, MedTech Europe
