

21 Jan 2021 | News

QUOTED. 21 January 2021. Larry Biegelsen.

by

The recently US FDA-cleared Velys robotic-assisted system from DePuy Synthes has distinct features. It also has a small footprint that makes it well-suited for ambulatory surgery centers. See what Larry Biegelsen, an analyst with Wells Fargo, said about it here.

“We believe the clearance of Velys helps J&J level the playing field versus its competitors.” – Larry Biegelsen, analyst, Wells Fargo

- Find out more: DePuy Synthes Gains US FDA Clearance For Velys Robot For Total Knee Surgery

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight