

10 May 2021 | News

QUOTED. 10 May 2020. Fatemeh Razjouyan.

by

Executives from three major device firms offered tips on supporting the mental health of employees in the age of COVID-19 on 6 May at the Medcon conference in Cincinnati. Fatemeh Razjouyan, director of regulatory policy and public affairs at Becton Dickinson, was among those on the panel.

“The first step toward supporting the mental health of our employees is definitely promoting awareness, and by the same token, making sure we stop treating mental health as taboo.” – Fatemeh Razjouyan, director of regulatory policy and public affairs, Becton Dickinson

- Find out more: Q&A: Boston Scientific, BD, Steris Tell How They're Backing Up Their Workers In 'The New Normal'

Click here for a free trial of Medtech Insight