The Association of Food and Drug Officials (AFDO) and the Regulatory Affairs Professionals Society (RAPS) will put on the Medcon conference this year. RAPS exec Brian Savoie spoke to us about what each of the groups brings to the table.

“It’s not a situation where we both approach the same problem in the same way. We actually approach things in different ways that I think are going to help further these programs a great deal.” – Brian Savoie, VP for education & professional development, RAPS
